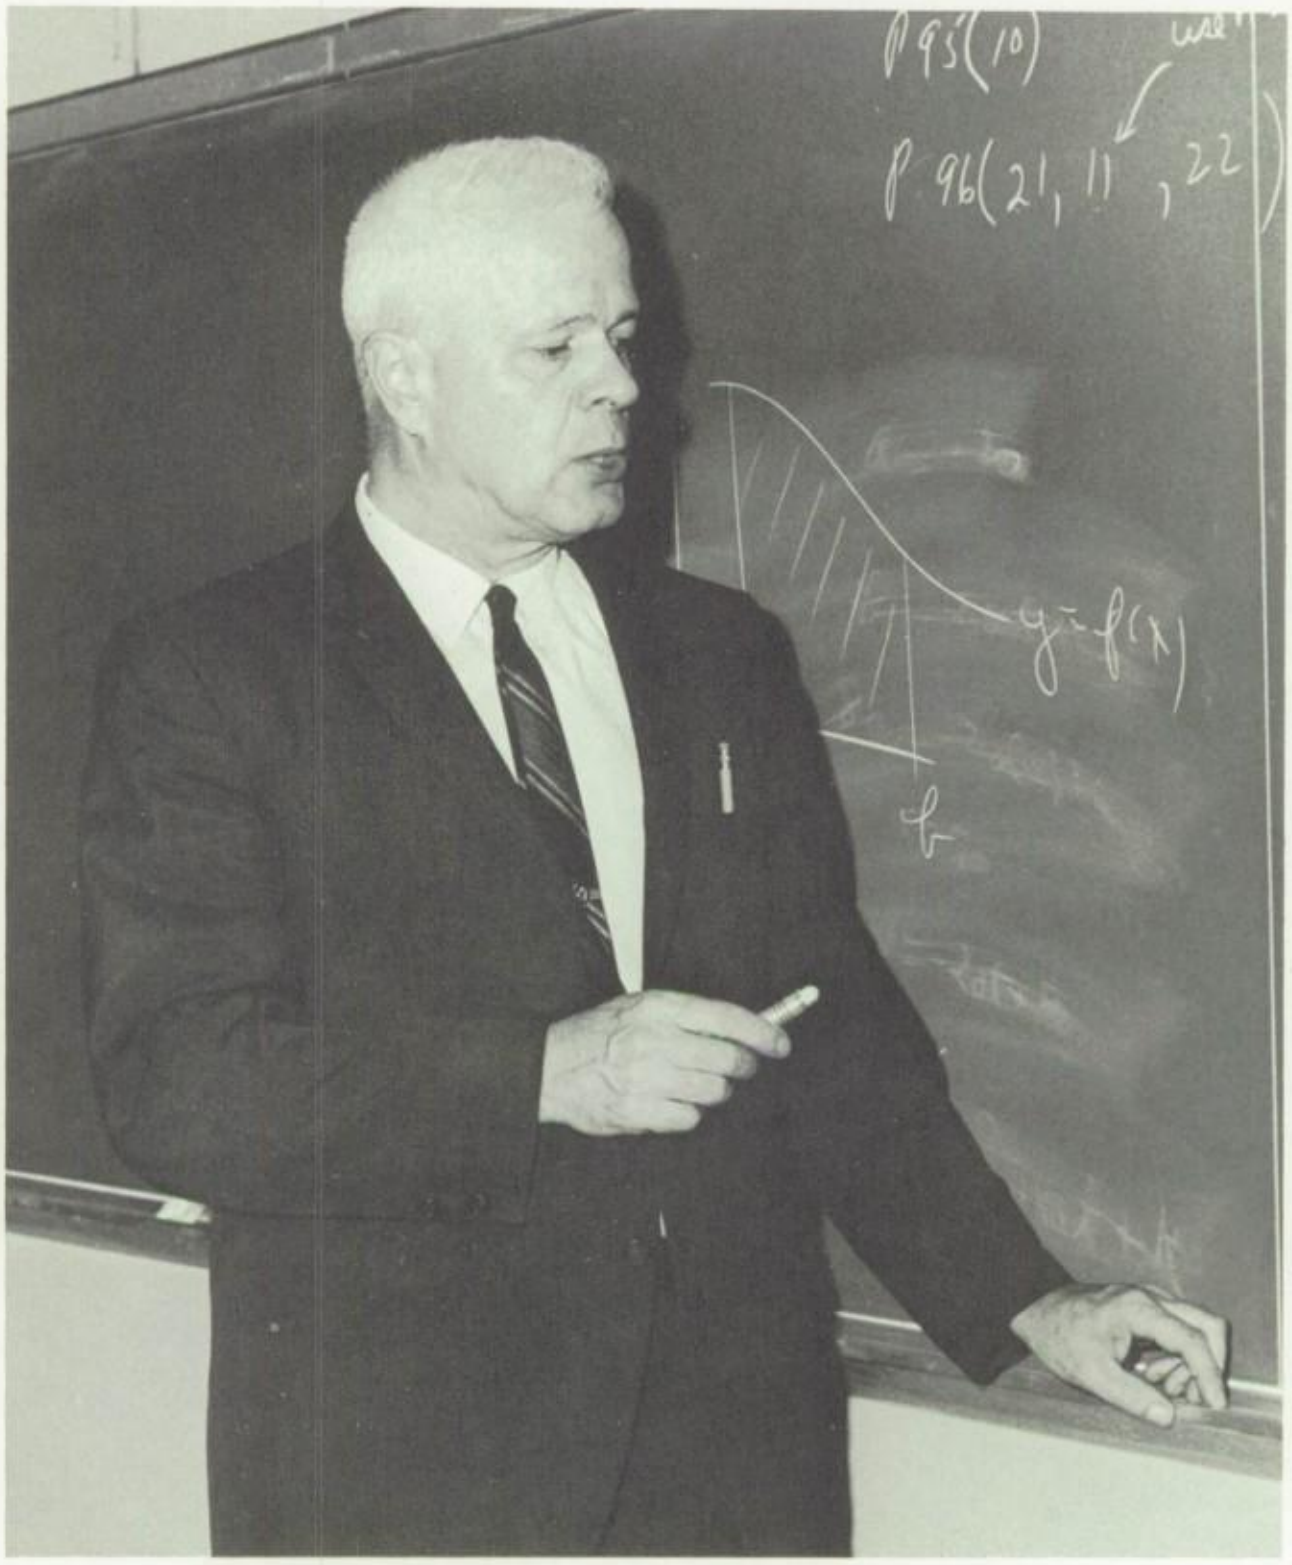
HEWLETT
V.C.

Ross Bleckner

As Seniors, we have spent the past three years in the unerring pursuit of knowledge. It is therefore not particularly surprising that education has formed the basis of our high school experience. However, important as our studies have been, this experience extends well beyond the scope of the curriculum, for Hewlett has meant football games as well as physics quizzes, Senior rings as well as academic pressures, discovering "the City" as well as discovering your college application was due yesterday. Patches feels that these memories are worth recording. What follows are some impressions of three years at George W. Hewlett High School, in Hewlett, in the Five Towns, just forty-five minutes from Broadway.

To Mr. Joseph Joerg:

In your face is reflected the very essence of life at Hewlett — the excitement, the discovery, the frustration.



"Knowledge is power — lack of it is drudgery."
"Don't weaken — summer school beckons."
"Put the 'U' in stUdy."

"Mathematics possesses not only truth, but supreme beauty — a beauty cold and austere, like that of sculpture, without appeal to any part of our weaker nature, sublimely pure, and capable of a stern perfection such as only the greatest art can show."

— Bertrand Russell

If we are ever to attain knowledge there must exist a person to guide, to understand, to inspire. This person is, of course, the teacher, and it is you, Mr. Joerg, who epitomizes the most esteemed ideals of this profession.

In an era of increasing academic pressures and complex teaching devices, you, Mr. Joerg, have retained the most important relationship in education — the teacher and the student. As Chairman of the Department of Mathematics for many years, you have been bound by responsibilities and added commitments. Still, you have shown tolerance, open-mindedness, imagination, and a concern for our education. The result has been a deep respect and admiration which has extended far beyond the classroom and which will undoubtedly continue after graduation. We offer our gratitude, Mr. Joerg, by dedicating to you Patches 1967.

We have experienced 540 mornings much like this one.

We stand outside the school at 8:30, chatting with our friends.

8:35, the bell rings. We push our way through the crowd to our lockers.

Bill Stoller, the "Voice of Hewlett," and our Assistant Principal Mr. Heagle discuss the morning's announcements.

Dear Ross,
I wish I knew what to write here - let me first say that it's been fun. Well take care of yourself + we'll keep in
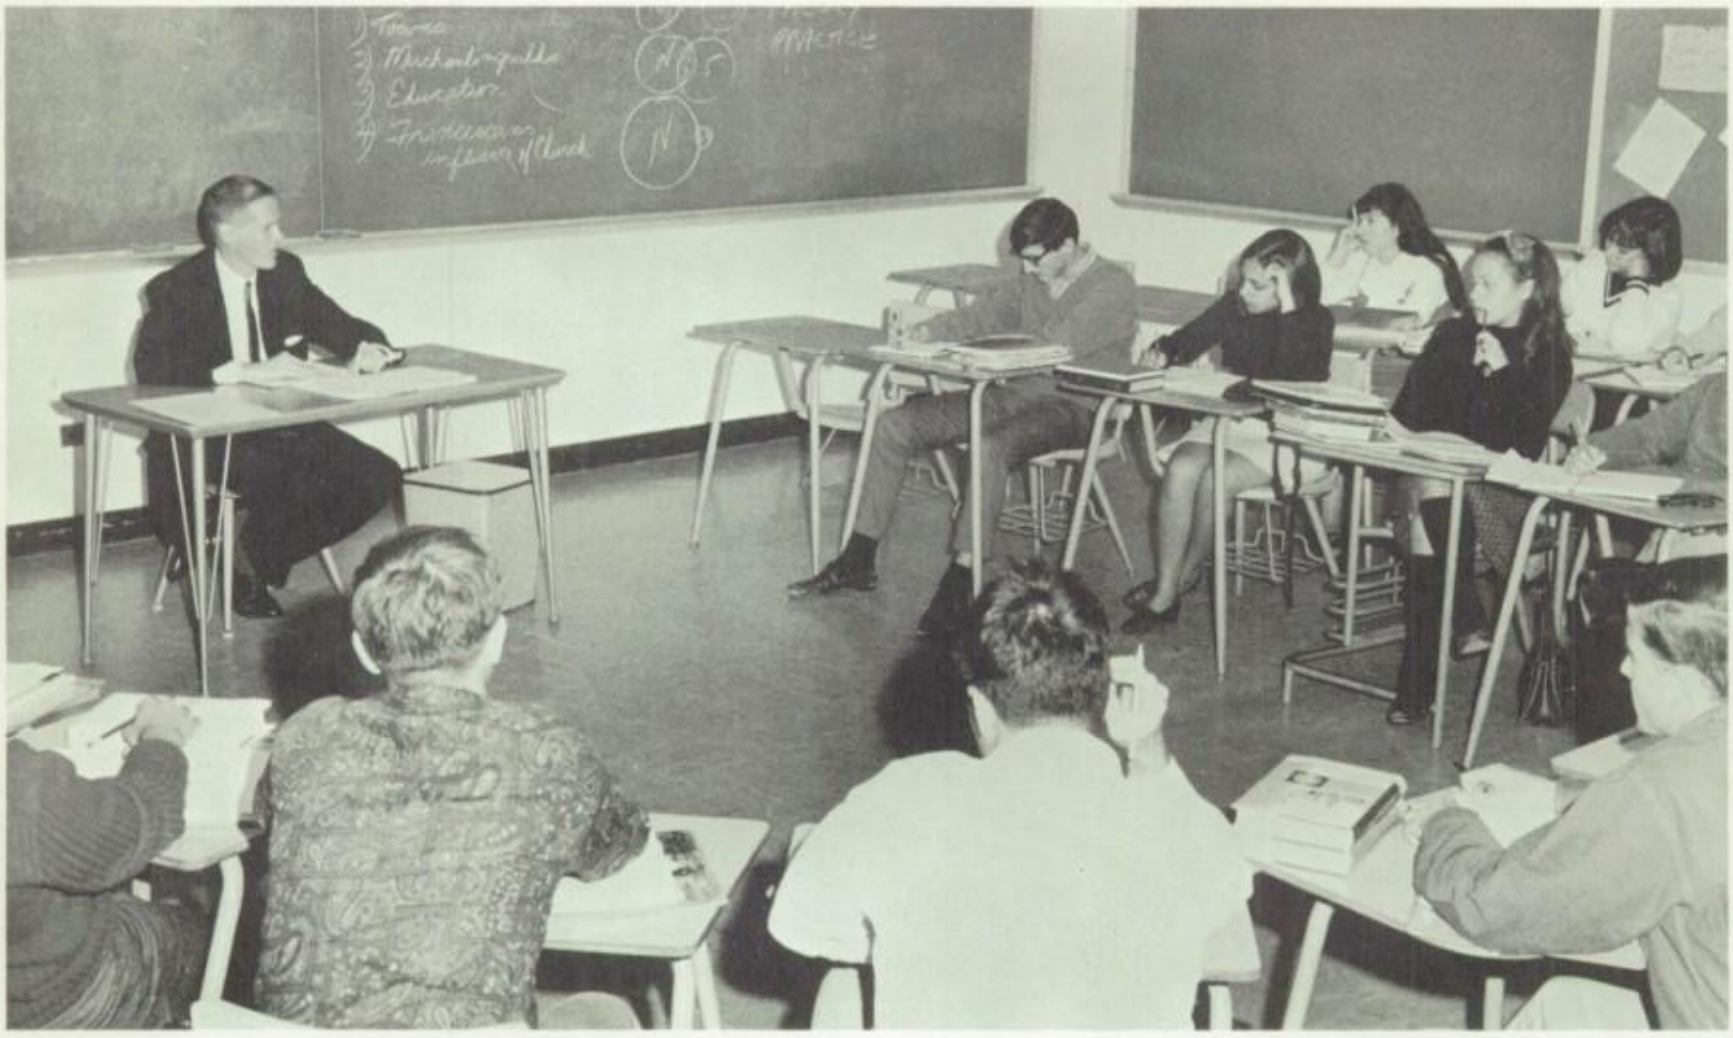
Steve

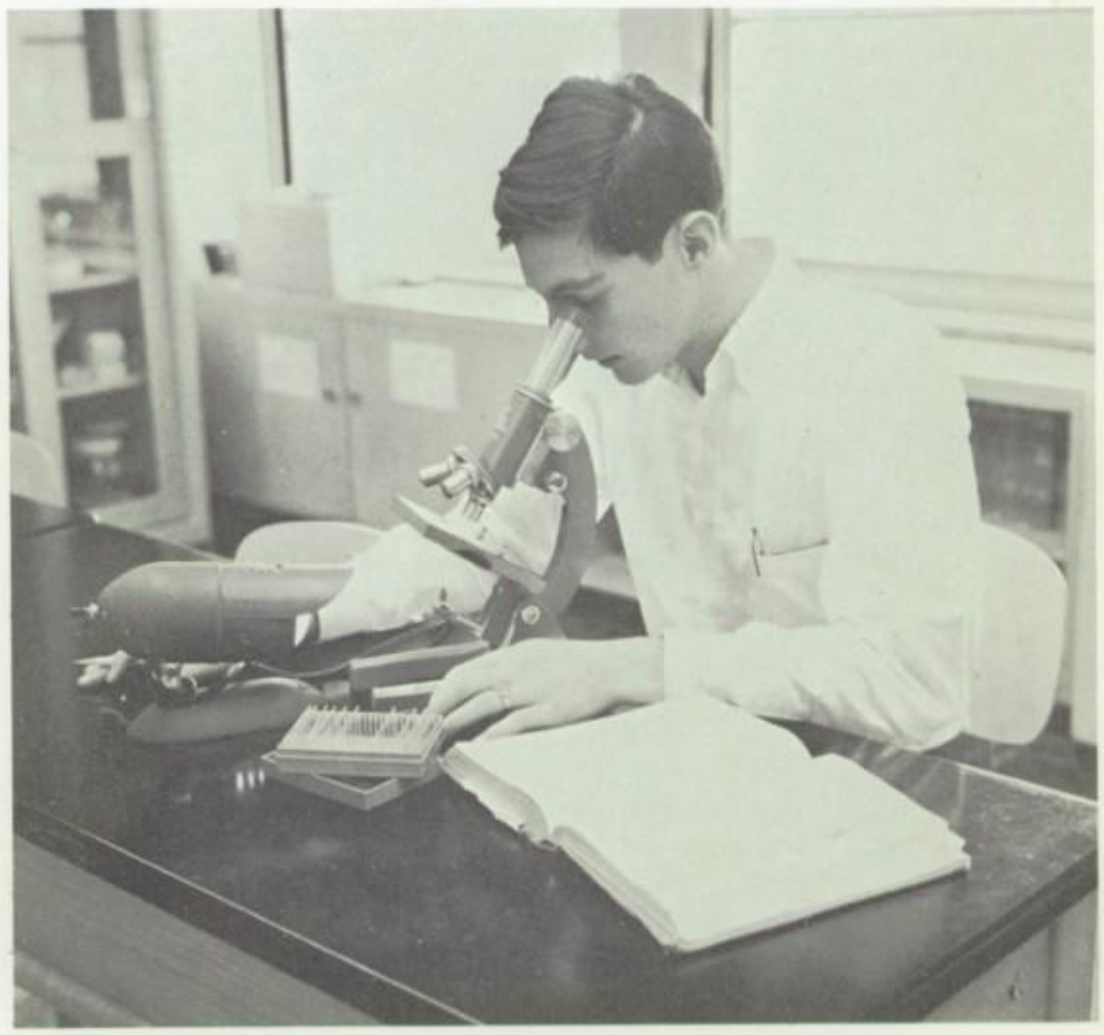
Sophomores and Juniors (top and middle) sit placidly in homeroom awaiting what fortune the day may bring.

The Seniors, sensing the approach of June and graduation, are restless.

Classes mean concentration, comfort, confusion, and discovery.



Learning is a continuing process which displays itself in many different forms. It may be seen in an Honors History class during Mr. Grey's discussion of the Jefferson Administration or in the faces of perplexed students awaiting the start of a Team Teaching lecture in the Little Theater. The uninterrupted probing into unknown worlds is exciting and is an example of individual exploration and study. But always there exists a certain relaxation, a pause in the process of growing. And this, too, is important.



Lunch is a welcome respite for weary scholars.

Certainly there is no finer fare to be had in Hewlett than that of our school lunchroom. Our excellent cafeteria staff serves the Hewlett student with great efficiency, and what it lacks in atmosphere is compensated for by the good fellowship of one's school chums. Of course, there are other eating establishments in the area. One of the more prestigious spots is Mike's Pizza. In the few years of its existence it has become a haven for hungry Hewlettites desiring an Italian touch at mealtime. Indeed, the community offers culinary delights that would tickle the palate of the most discriminating gourmet.

SERVES THE NATION
NATIONAL
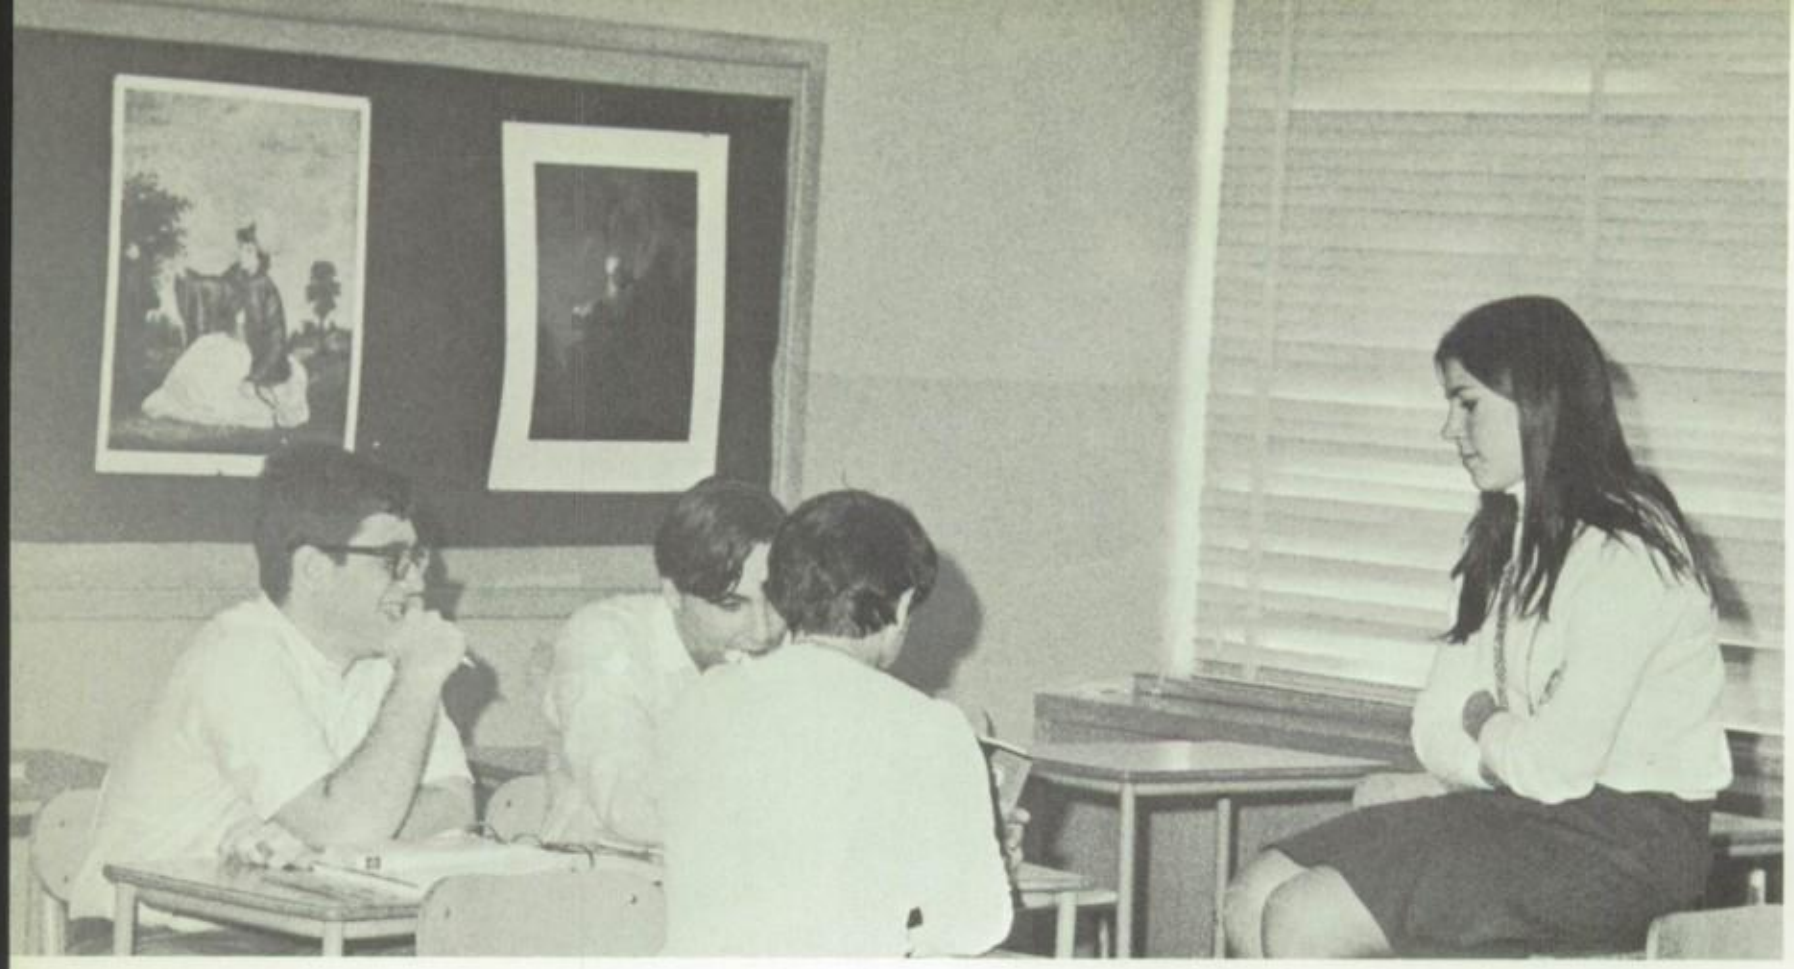
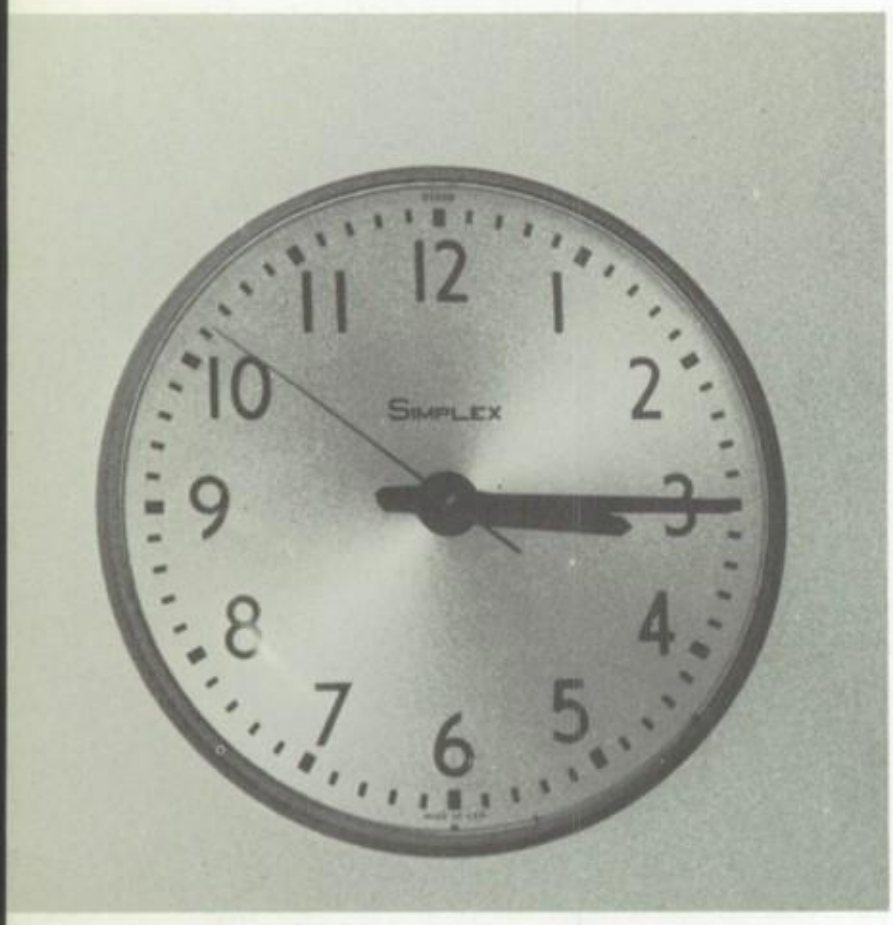
WEEK
OCT. 9-15



The afternoon brings more classes and more work.

When the seventh period bell rings and the halls are once again swarmed with scuttling people, there is a mixed atmosphere of seriousness and restlessness. Eyes that should be focused on an Oedipus the King film are sometimes covered by drooping eyelids, and minds that should be absorbing Emerson and Hawthorne are sometimes engaged in idle thought. But pervading everything is a definite concern for knowledge — and it is this pursuit which has characterized the entire day, and which, for some, extends far into the afternoon.

3:15, the end of the school day, arouses mixed emotions at Hewlett.



The sound of the final bell at 3:15 is an anticlimax. Though students and teachers may sigh with relief, each knows that the next day's work must be prepared in the evening. However, for the few hours between the end of school and the beginning of the evening's study, the student is relatively free. Most students take advantage of these few spare moments to begin their exodus from school. Some leave in the elegance of a private motor car while the less fortunate must settle for a frantic ride on a public conveyance or the humble drudgery of walking.

For many of us the school day neither begins at 8:35 nor ends at 3:15.

The Bulletin staff works well into the afternoon straining to meet a deadline.

Members of Art Club work on a cartoon to be shown in the Art Assembly.

Enough knowledge of electronics to enable them to repair a speaker system is only one of the many demands placed on members of the Audio-Visual Squad.

Intense concentration is evident in the faces of both players and spectators as the Chess Club momentarily suspends all other games to watch an all-important match.

In a burst of inspiration the Folk Music Club composes a song for a future program.

Sports provides us with excitement, exhilaration, and a sense of unity.

At parties there is motion, music, companionship.

The student at Hewlett experiences both an academic life and a social one. Though separate and distinct, each has contributed significantly to his development and will form the nucleus of many memories. The academic aspect predominates for five seemingly endless days, but with Friday evening the pressures and worries seem far away. Parties offer this relief.

With a series of quick phone calls and other contacts, the time and place are promptly established. The sophomore and junior parties were sadly characterized by empty driveways, but as Seniors we have finally lined the streets with the sacred cars that have come to symbolize maturity and responsibility.

The atmosphere at parties changes from depression to laughter, from inactivity to movement. But most important is the opportunity to form friendships. These experiences are worth remembering.

Only the City affords us independence, cultivation, diversion, a sense of being.

The attraction of New York is unique and wonderful, be it a gathering in Central Park, window shopping on 5th Avenue, a sidewalk painting exhibition in the Village, the resonance of Lincoln Center, or the multitudinous mass at Broadway and 42nd Street. Our lives reflect New York.

SENIORS

Our senior class began its high school career divided into two junior high groups which rivaled each other in athletics, dramatic productions, and every other imaginable competition. When the two freshman classes became one sophomore class at Hewlett High, the adjustment to a new way of life was accomplished with remarkable alacrity. Under the leadership of Ralph Lipman as president, we dropped the old rivalries and began the formation of a cohesive, spirited Class of 1967.

Sophomore year was a time of anxiety and inferiority complexes, but as juniors we had gained confidence and daring. The new-found boldness was evident at the Junior Play and the Junior Breakfast, our first major class gatherings. We were led admirably by Robert Steinglass in these activities and again by Robert in our senior year.

Our junior year was not the last of our carefree, frolicking days, though bothersome senior details like college boards and applications tended to disturb us. Still, our spirit was undampened. As seniors, some of us solved the details; others found unique senior methods for avoiding them. A by-product of our exuberence was a noticeable lengthening of the senior absentee lists.

By the time our Senior Prom and Graduation Day arrived, we had survived sixteen high school report cards of varying degrees of excellence, and seemingly countless teachers, whose varied quality endeared them all to us. In and out of school, though, we had experiences that would remain with us for a lifetime.

UNDERCLASSMEN

A senior class does not a high school make. Perhaps nowhere is this statement better exemplified than at Hewlett where underclassmen account for well over two-thirds of the student population.

Sophomores and juniors have made their presence felt in all phases of school life. The basketball team, always a Hewlett strength, was often dominated this year by juniors. The underclassmen, though, have distinguished themselves not only in athletics, but also in spirit and an appreciation of the value of sportsmanship. At all Hewlett events their one thousand bodies and voices seem multiplied by many more. Even more important, they have reflected genuine enthusiasm in every academic area.

It is the intangible but fundamental concept called spirit that has made the underclassmen of 1966-67 such a memorable group. Whether it has been participation in a club, or support during a track meet, they have exhibited throughout the year the motivation and energy of which any institution can be proud.

The exuberant Junior Class is second only to the seniors.

CURRICULUM

With the advent of the Renaissance, traditional curriculum on the university level expanded extensively as a result of the vast development of human knowledge. Most scholars feel, however, that at the secondary school level much is lacking. This thought is definitely refuted at Hewlett.

Hewlett's curriculum is a many-faceted affair. Its constituents encompass a broad and diverse area which is capable of satisfying them most inquistive intellect. All the subject matter comprising the curriculum teaches the student to explore and discover, to strike out on his own. While studying at Hewlett, the student comes to place a great reliance on himself and soon learns the importance of a very nebulous term he has so often heard—responsibility. This process of inculcating a sense of self-reliance and responsibility in a student leads to his maturation not only as a scholar, but as a person. It also instills the independence essential to the life we will all be living one day.

Shakespeare has said that learning is but an adjunct to ourselves. Though most high school students would recoil from the thought, they find it more than true when they enter college where their true intellectual capacities become defined. At Hewlett the student has not only explored the existing fields of knowledge, but has also come to discover himself. Shakespeare's words have been realized.

Administration faces the task of running seven schools smoothly.

CLUBS

In any educational environment there are certain people who are not content with the offerings of the usual curriculum. They feel restricted or confined, and so desire an outlet for personal enrichment or fulfillment. At Hewlett, clubs offer this singular pursuit of activities not ordinarily included in the classroom. Such participation is not only beneficial to the individual, but also acts as a broadening influence on the life of the school.

The extensive number of clubs is overwhelming, yet each has a specific purpose or function which helps to preserve its identity. The Audio-Visual Squad enhances academic comprehension through the use of electronic aids while the Chess Club develops the mental concentration of a challenging hobby. Some groups encourage creative expression, such as the Folk Music Club, Drama Workshop, and Bulletin. The language clubs promote greater linguistic facility and observe the culture of other lands, while the American Field Service brings the young people of these countries to our school. The exisiting problems in many of these areas are discussed and interpreted by the Social Studies Forum. Patches has incorporated all of these activities recording forever three years of our extracurricular life at Hewlett.

Norwegian and Philippine A.F.S. students become an integral part of the class of '67.

A.F.S. President Debbie Rothman addresses club members.

This year, the American Field Service Club was pleased to welcome its new sponsor, Mrs. Ann Rubin, and its two foreign exchange students, Kari Amdam of Norway and ChiChi Barros of the Philippines. Under the leadership of President Debbie Rothman, AFS members participated in the Annual Welcome Tea, Halloween Party, International Weekend, and Farewell Barbecue. Club members met every month, while the Executive Board, made up of the officers and representatives from each class, met once a week. This summer, in conjunction with Hewlett's AFS program, Eileen Palmer will participate in the Americans Abroad Program.

The Debate Club and the Social Studies Forum investigated the complexities of foreign policy.

Responsible leadership in forensics characterized this year's Debate Club achievements: a Long Island Forensic Association debate tournament at Hewlett; a JV and Varsity team for tournament competition; a National Forensic League acceptance of club members to its ranks; a Drama Workshop collaboration to field a "dramatic interpretation" team; an adjunct debate club fostered at Jr. High North; and intra-club and inter-school debates. With these "firsts" came prestige and an auspicious looking future.

The Social Studies Forum gives willing members of the student body a chance to express their opinions on the controversial problems of our world. Panel debates and guest speakers present to the student facts from which he can draw his own conclusions. Because the club recognizes the importance of independent thought and reason, it attempts to cultivate the mind of each member.

Library Service Club members perform a valuable service for our school.

Most of the students in our school enjoy and profit from the many services of our school library, but very few are aware of the hard work and complicated procedures that maintain and improve the library. Much of this work is done by the Library Service Club, under the direction of our two librarians, Mrs. Abelson and Mrs. Astor. Volunteers work daily behind the circulation desk, in the stacks, and in the technical office, performing such tasks as shelving books, typing, and assisting students who are unfamiliar with the facilities of the library.

This year, with a large federal grant, it has been possible for the library to purchase about a thousand additional books. The librarians hope to achieve the goal of ten volumes per student. The Library Club members helped prepare each one of these books for circulation.

Library Club members enjoy their work because it makes them familiar with the unlimited possibilities of the library for research and pleasure and rewards them with the satisfaction of performing a valuable service to our school.

In its first year, The Chess Club placed first in county-wide competition.

Due to the enthusiasm demonstrated by members of Hewlett's former Chess Club, the Chess Team was organized this year and enrolled in the Nassau Chess League. The team participated in several tournaments, scoring high against more seasoned groups including the hardened players at the tri-state New York Metropolitan Chess Tournament during the Christmas vacation.

Sponsored by Mr. De Stefano, the team is led by President Edward Fox, Vice-President Donald Chesley, Secretary Howard Sawyer, and Treasurer David Weinstein. These four players, plus seniors Louis Matis and Robert Ditkoff, form the "Super-Six" — the top men on the team. The phenomenal showing of this year's team indicated a bright future for our newest club.

Honor Society's tutoring program has proved to be a tremendous success.

For the National Honor Society, this year was one of increased involvement in the school's affairs. An Action Committee was formed and it immediately began intensive investigation of our study hall system and ways of improving it. The tea, held in early Winter, brought past Honor Society members back from their college campuses to discuss higher education. The very successful Student Tutoring Program was continued this year and the fact that there was a large waiting list for tutors is a testimony to the effectiveness of this program. The high point of the year was, of course, the induction ceremony. A new system of selection incorporating teacher recommendations and extracurricular activities was tried, and it proved extremely successful. This system of selection, combined with the quality of the underclassmen, has assured the perpetuation of an effective Honor Society.

Le Cercle Français

The three Hewlett High French Clubs are La Société Française, Le Cercle Français, and Le Salon Français, for third, fourth, and fifth year French students. These three organizations aim to improve fluency in the language by enriching basic vocabulary, and requiring the student to speak spontaneously — to "think" in French. The club members participate in word games, discussions, and singing at their bi-monthly meetings, which are conducted entirely in French. The highlight of this year's activities was an excursion to New York City, where members saw the movie Is Paris Burning?

La Société Française, sponsored by Miss Glicksman, is led by president Carol Wildenberg, Vice-President Barbara Wolf, Secretary Ellen Doft, and Treasurer Alan Tran. Le Cercle Français, supervised by Miss Silver, has as its officers Sydney Crystal, President, Vice-President Madeline Klein, Secretary Jane Leslie, and Treasurer Mel Pohl. Le Salon Français, under the direction of Mrs. Speer, is officiated by President Leslie Pintchik, Vice-President Leslie Diamond, Secretary Carol Morgenstern, and Treasurer Jennifer Boritz.

In 1953 a handful of secondary school teachers formed the Spanish Honor Society in the hope of providing gifted students with an opportunity to preserve and appreciate the Castillian language. The Hewlett chapter of the organization was formed by Mrs. Phillips, Spanish Dept. Chairman. New members who have already demonstrated considerable oral and written proficiency are able to increase their comprehension at monthly meetings. It is hoped that the efforts of President Louis Matis and his officers will aid the fluency of each student.

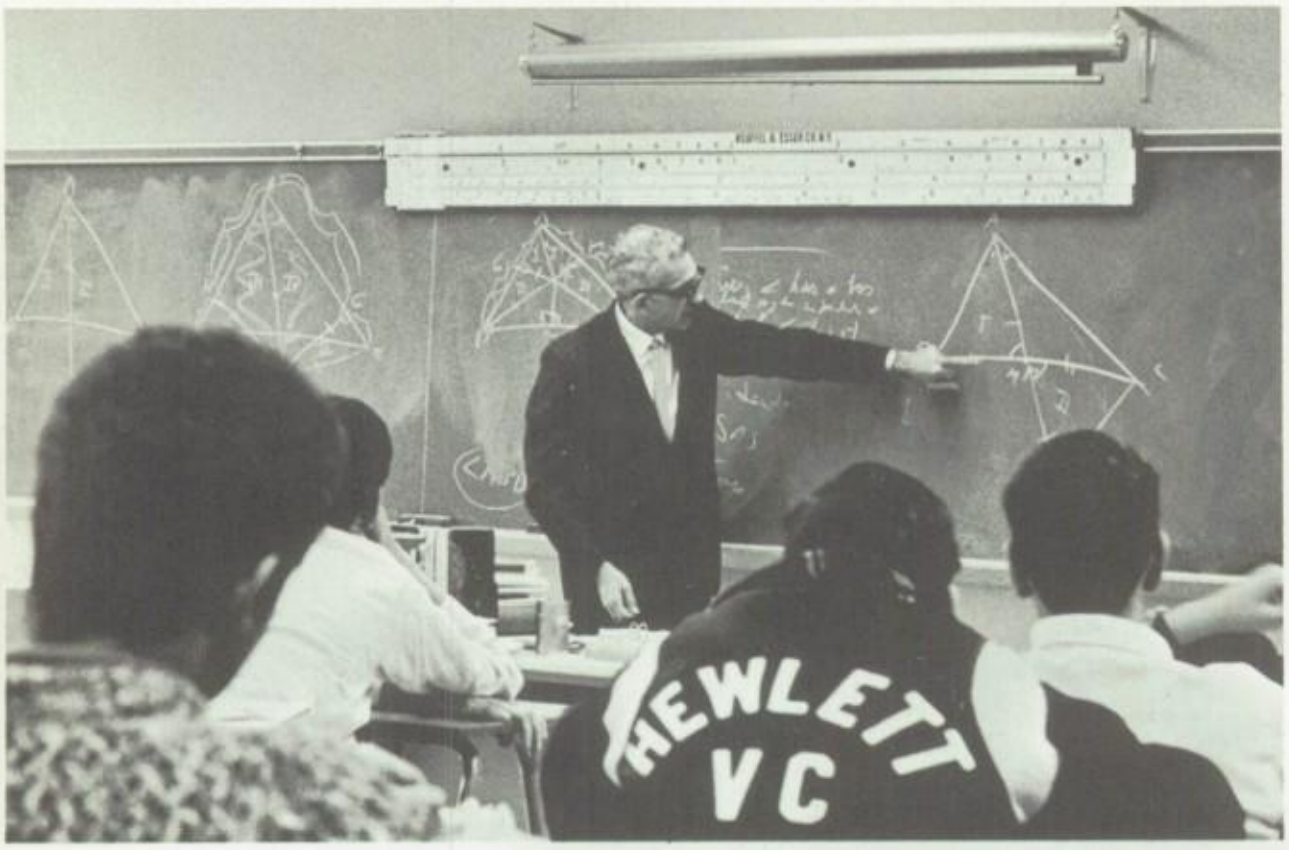
Math Club sponsors guest lectures; Computer Workshop increases membership in its second year.



The Math Club provides each person with a clearer insight into the expanding and complex world of mathematics. Through guest lecturers from local colleges and individual reports by the members themselves, curious students are introduced to both the highly theoretical and practical phases of the "new math".

Under the guidance of Mr. Cascardi, members of the Math Team try to solve intricate problems within a specific time limit. These conundrums test the student's familiarity with basic mathematical concepts and his ability to apply these principles to complex situations. Once a month the team participates in competitive meets which demand additional concentration and poise.

The Computer Workshop was designed to introduce students to the basics of computer programming and operation. Its activities included a trip to our local attendance computer as well as weekly lectures by our own Mr. Rindler on the principles of the FORTRAN II computer language.

The Physics Club ponders the phlogiston theory.

The future scientists of Hewlett High, not content with the classroom as their sole source of learning and experimentation in the vast field of science, have worked together in the two science clubs of Hewlett, the Biology and Physics Clubs. These organizations endeavor to enhance the scientific "know-how" of these devoted students through experimentation, discussion, and independent research. These clubs help the student to appreciate the values and the immense resources of this vast field, and help him to make better use of the greatest resource of science — his mind and imagination.

The Biology Club, sponsored by Mr. Schilling, explores the structure of living organisms. This group might inspire interested and dedicated members to devote their careers to medicine, surgery, physiology, or a related biologic field. The Physics Club, guided by Mr. Mayhugh, has built a vacuum tube electroscope and a computer in an effort to understand the phenomena of science while enriching general knowledge and studying the advantages, duties, and work of the many fields of science.

The Folk Music and Drama Clubs acquaint students with the performing arts.

The Folk Music Club of Hewlett High is a dedicated group of music lovers who enjoy sharing their talent and interest in folk music with others. Their work is doubly demanding, since they must not only develop their individual talents but learn to synthesize them as group performers. The club, under the leadership of President Ricky Gold, contributed to the success of the AFS Halloween party, as it has added to the enjoyment of so many other school functions. It is the goal of the Folk Club to get the audiences to enjoy hearing their songs as much as they enjoy performing.

Drama Club officers with sponsor Mr. Levin.

The Drama Club of Hewlett High School was established to encourage self-expression and self-discovery through the theater. This year, under the sponsorship of Mr. Levin, the club was led by President Laura Slutsky, Vice-President Larry Rack, Secretary Howard Sawyer, and Treasurer Elizabeth Hemley. The Miracle Worker, a touching drama about the teacher who gave deaf-blind Helen Keller the gift of communication, was selected as the club's annual production and scheduled for performance on May 12 and 13 — the first time that the club presented an evening production. As well as participating in the actual performance, each of the club's twenty-five members works behind the curtains at make-up, props, scenery, special effects, staging, or other backstage function. One of the highlights of this year's club was the showing of a film on bigotry which endeavored to demonstrate how the theater acts as a barometer or indicator of society.

The F.T.A., one of the largest clubs, interests its members in the various aspects of teaching by providing guest speakers, faculty members, and educational movies. Through these aids, the members gain clearer insight into the problems of the profession, while cadet teaching and the Teacher's Aid Program have offered the students valuable experience in the classroom. At a recent benefit theatre party, featuring "Flower Drum Song", the club raised funds to be used as a scholarship for a deserving future teacher.

F.N.A. initiated a First Aid course.

This year, at the request of the boys,.the Future Nurses Club has instituted the American Red Cross First Aid course for those wishing credit in order to be eligible for jobs at camps and resorts. The club meetings consist of lectures, demonstrations, and testing. The members practice bandaging one another, using slings, resuscitating, and applying tourniquets. This year's club, under the sponsorship of Mrs. Comstock, is headed by President Betty Abramson, Vice-President Rosalyn Mestel, Secretary Mickey Boehrer, and Treasurer Karen Bauer.

The Home Economics Club contributes to the development of each member by enhancing her social, vocational, and cultural "knowhow". This club provides a worthwhile and practical experience for all its members; family living, professional and vocational skills, health, economics, and personal development are some of the topics discussed. A primary goal is to increase the poise and self-reliance of the girls through both discussion and service. This year the girls sponsored the annual Faculty Tea and competed in a national baking contest. They also provided and served many of the refreshments at the annual Carnival.

Not content with merely equaling the achievements of its predecessors this year's organization, sponsored by Mrs. Petrone and led by President Marianne Martorano and Vice-President-Secretary Toni Gigante, was instrumental in the success of other significant projects. Using their own funds, the girls purchased materials and made toys for the underprivileged children in the Five Towns Nursery. The club also held a holiday party for their friends.

Art Club presidents discuss plans for the Art Show.

The Art Club of Hewlett is indeed a unique organization — uninhibited, informal, and versatile. Under the direction of Miss Peterson and Mr. Dunn, the club works spiritedly and tirelessly to prepare one of the most enjoyable of our assemblies — the annual Art Show. This production is a testimony to the versatility of its highly-talented members, in the fields of dance, music, painting, cinematography, sculpting, and creative writing. The themes and activities of the Art Club are as limitless as all the vast fields of art it explores. This is one club, of which it can be honestly said, "Anything goes."

Varsity Club honors Hewlett lettermen.

It is the dream of every young athlete to become a member of the Varsity Club. Membership rules require that each prospective candidate earn at least one varsity letter. One of the largest clubs in the school, the lettermen promote athletics and school spirit with funds raised from various class functions. Among other activities, the club prints competition schedules, honors outstanding athletes at the annual awards dinner and organizes trips to professional sporting events.

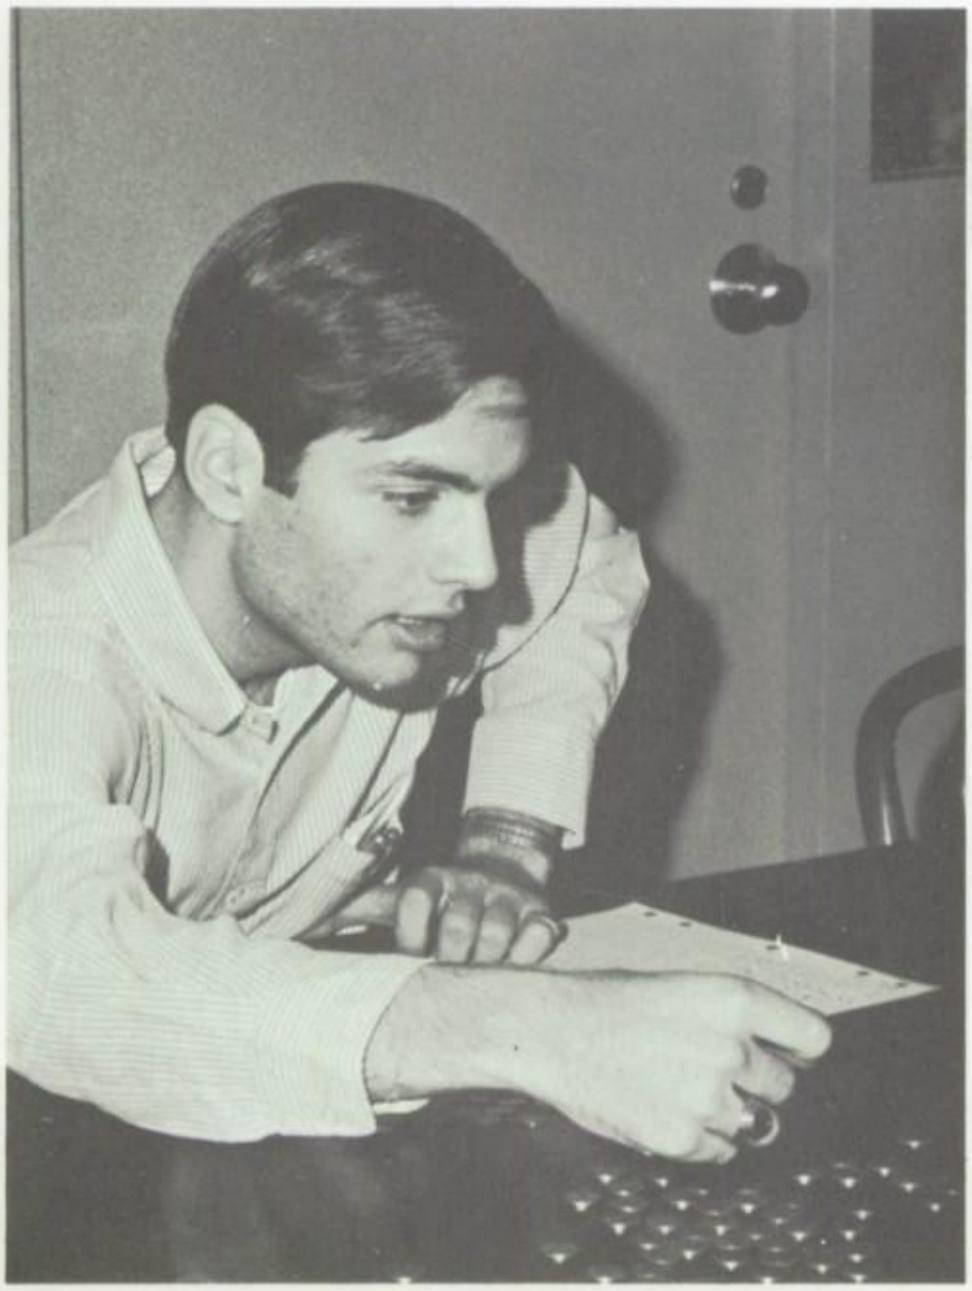
Student Council sponsored Bulletin circulation, boosting sales.



Council fund raising efforts were particularly successful this year.

The Student Council of Hewlett serves a manifold purpose — to instill in the students an appreciation of democracy through participation in school government, to foster school spirit and cooperation among students and faculty, and to work for the general welfare of our school by planning and supervising many extra-curricular activities.

This year, council sponsored the annual car wash, workday, and carnival to raise scholarship money for worthy graduates. They supported two orphans under the Foster Parents Plan — Marta of Columbia and Tung of Viet Nam — and contributed to the establishment of our first Chess Team. Among the traditional duties of Student Council were the supervision of class and council elections. Another function was the regulation of participation in extracurricular activities by the point system, which tries to insure active and enthusiastic membership rather than "overjoining" in school activities.

The Human Relations Committee, an independent organ but closely related to Student Council, has sponsored a clothing drive this year to benefit the people of Appalachia and foreign nations.

Student Council members represent our student body in presenting suggestions to the administration, and plan and sponsor many events for the betterment of our school and the enjoyment of the students. In order to fulfill their duties of promoting school spirit, they naturally must be dedicated and enthusiastic about the value of Student Council. The rich reward of their labors is the satisfaction of rendering a much appreciated and much respected service to their school.

BOYS' SPORTS

Conditioning, devotion, teamwork, skill, the last minute basket, a game winning interception, the roar of the crowd — all are elements of the athletic spirit. Whether blocking for the quarterback or running a lonely last lap, the athlete realizes a sense of sportsmanship, a sense of competition, a desire to win. He learns the importance of teamwork, that man must sacrifice personal glory for the success of the team.

Athletics is an integral part of the Hewlett curriculum. The student must be physically and mentally capable of working in, and molding his society. He must be willing to cooperate with his "teammates". Sports — the recreation and enjoyment derived from them, are a stimulating and important aspect of our education.

This past season, Hewlett has seen the decline of a basketball dynasty. Yet, too, we have seen the success of a young swimming team. A team's success follows trends. A few players graduate and along come some promising sophomores. Coaching, continual effort, desire-again we have a winning team.

The crowd, rhythmically cheering, revels in the team's glory, accepts its defeat. The athlete lives, daring both of these. If from the midst of defeat he can rise to victory he has triumphed.

Hewlett Football was characterized by patience, determination and the Adamses.

Beset by injuries and the usual lack of size and weight, Coach Thad Sela's football team compiled a discouraging 2-6 record. The overall record is however, not indicative of the individual effort of many talented players.

Players such as Co-captains Ron and Don Adams, John Frontino, and Mike Perrotta, were able to influence and inspire such promising underclassmen as Adrian Levy, Bob Whitney, and talented sophomores Nick Sharko and Tom Melick. The all-around excellence of Don Adams earned him All-South Shore honors.

The team progressed with the development of a strong bench comprised of experienced underclassmen. Despite the loss of many fine seniors, there is a promising outlook for a more successful season next year. The verity of numerous defeats cannot erase the brighter moments of the season.

Hewlett's gymnasts performed valiantly this season despite their unsuccessful record. Under the inspiring leadership of Coach Sylvia, the team has gained the experience and finesse that will enable them to finish higher in its competitive league in the ensuing seasons. Each gymnast must be proficient in many skills. Among the most versatile boys are brothers Joe and Louis Low, Bob Jacobson, Jeff Hansen, Steve Zuchtman, and Dennis Mullen. In a sport where man is competing against himself, he must strive for perfection. Hewlett's gymnasts have their aims set toward this goal.

Few teams can equal the consistent success of Hewlett Tennis.

This year's tennis team was one of the most powerful and talented ever assembled at Hewlett High School. The tennis team, led by Captain Tom Mohr and freshman Sandy Mayer, swept to 14 straight wins before a heart-breaking loss to Oceanside in the finals of the South Shore Championships.

The tennis team had the best singles player on Long Island and one of the best in the East in Sandy Mayer. At number two singles was senior Tom Mohr. Tom combined a rocket-like serve with a good net game for an excellent 14-1 record. He was one of the 5 undefeated singles players in league competition in Nassau County. Various boys played third singles for the racquet men including seniors Lance Russell and Steve Lerner and juniors Mark Edelstein and Andy Schuyler. The two doubles teams, very strong this year, both completed excellent 14-1 records. At first doubles was senior Richie Casden and junior Peter Lindenbaum. At second doubles was the other dynamic duo of Randy Goodman and Kenny Groover. These boys, playing for the first time together, show promise for next year's team.

The Varsity Soccer Team, in its first year under the guidance of Coach Dan Raskin, endured a losing season in hopes of strengthening future squads. Although graduation of talented seniors hurt the team, it enabled the building of a stronger team composed primarily of underclassmen.

Co-captains John Santopolo and Alan Kaplan controlled the backfield, aborting many a possible goal. Steve Rappaport's reflexes and hustling proved him an excellent goalie. The fine footwork of underclassmen Jean-Pierre Denis, Steve Steiner, Peter Rosenthal, David Koss, and Don Powell, will provide a formidable offense in the future. Hewlett Booters Santopolo and Denis received high honors upon being voted to the South Shore All-League Team.

The younger players received invaluable experience both in fundamentals and teamwork, and look forward to a successful season next year.

This year's Cross-Country team, coached by Jim Hart, and led by Captains Frank Zydor and Paul Simon, finished its league season with a record of eight wins and seven losses. Placing seventh in the Nassau County Division B. Championships, the Harriers ended the long grueling season. However, this season was one of great personal achievement, and a source of great hope for next season.

Chip Zydor ran a string of first place finishes the length of a cross-country course. Besides going undefeated in league competition, Chip won the St. John's Invitational Meet, the Bethpage G.O., and the South Shore Athletic League Championship. He was also successful in defending his Division B County Championship. Chip set meet records in both the St. John's and Bethpage meets. In the County Championship, he set a course record of 11:59 for 2.5 miles.

This season was also one of great promise. In spite of the loss of this year's other seniors Paul Simon, Richard Cooperwasser, and Jim Hochman, Coach Hart looks eagerly toward next year. Juniors Fred Rosen and Howie Deutsch, and Soph Ricky Lynch all had fine seasons and show great promise for the season to come.

It is difficult to imagine the Bluejacket Basketball Team devoid of underclassmen, for all but two of the starting players were Juniors. Such an apparent deficiency in experience would seem an insurmountable obstacle to any observer, and yet through the efforts of Coach Bill Munch the Hoopsters emerged as a formidable challenge to league opponents.

Only Uniondale was able to overcome Hewlett in both of its contests, this being accomplished by the slimmest of margins. After inaugurating the season with five successive victories, the Bluejackets, who were previously unnoticed by local critics, found themselves in the enviable position of first place. The perennial powers Lawrence and Uniondale blemished Hewlett's undefeated streak, but the Bluejackets retaliated with a stream of wins over Elmont, Freeport, Berner, Kennedy and Lawrence. Again basketball fans found something to cheer about and cries of Hewlett supremacy resounded everywhere. Unfortunately, three of the final five games resulted in disheartening losses. Above all, tradition was shattered when the team failed to enter the county playoffs.

The Bluejackets abounded in talent, although the essential ingredients of confidence and height were missing. Captain Danny Chizever, the veteran representative of the Senior class, acted as the unifying force for the entire squad. His intelligence, alertness, and dexterity made every Hewlett attack more effective. Mitch and Matt Dickoff comprised a backcourt combination of steadiness and agility which improved with every game. As previously mentioned the element of height was absent. In this respect Phil Ruth's inch frame was a welcome sight on the bluejacket court. The fifth position on the starting team became a source of rivalry between Tommy Mohr and "Shorty" Rosenberg. The problem was resolved when Tommy offered some dazzling performances against Kennedy and Freeport. "Shorty" still drew applause from the Hewlett crowd, as did Richie Feder, Doug Dilg, Ron Adams and Don Carter.

The most significant factor in the development of the Bluejackets will be time. Time to mature, time to mellow.

Although it does not attract the attention of the student body, riflery combines all the elements which add excitement to Sports. Tension, poise, and endurance are integral components of marksmanship, one of the oldest forms of athletic competition.

Hewlett's riflery teams have always performed with distinction, and this year has been no exception. Guided by Mr. Palmer, the sharpshooters defeated countless opponents and maintained the excellence which adversaries have become accustomed to. Seniors Harry Richter, Bill Mersey, Tom Kinzler, and John Santopolo exhibited the precision and experience of veteran marksmen. As in other sports, underclassmen provided depth and reinforcement, which if aged, will produce incomparable results.

Capt. Harry Richter shoots for the title.

From the depths of its subterranean cellar, the aquamen have risen to the respected fourth place slot in league standings. The scientific training of first-year coach Bob Saltz, and the outstanding performances of veteran and rookie swimmers have finally brought Hewlett a winning season. Seniors Don Abrams, Larry Cohen, Mike Gross, brothers Mike and Garret Hopkins, juniors Joe Levy and Steve Cahan, and already established sophomore diver Sandy Rubenstein have broken as many records as they set. The once laughable bluegills have emerged into a veritable championship contender.

Captains Dan Groveman and Jimmy Ross exhibit perfect form from the tee.

Under the leadership of Coach Daniel McSweeney, Hewlett's golf team is optimistic about the Division II competition. With the return of four of last year's starting five, senior co-captains Jimmy Ross and Dan Groveman, and juniors Andy Schuyler and Phil Ruth, the team has both skill and experience. Their returning squad members, including, Larry Bader, Barry Jackowity and Allan Schneider, provide good depth which is necessary for a winning team. As in the past, Hewlett's golfers should continue their dominance on the links.

With many returning lettermen, including county two-mile champ Frank Zydor, Coach Hart's track team is looking forward to a successful 1967 season. The team appears well-rounded in all events. The distance men include record holder "Chip" Zydor, Paul Simon and Richie Cooperwasser. The Sprinters are led by Howard Zarrett and the hurdles are John Oxford's specialty. In the field events Doug Dilg is a double-threat in the high jump and the triple jump, along with Bradley Geller (triple jump), Alan Zweibel (discus) and Harold Durham (pole vault).

With the team's talent and experience we can look forward to a successful season.

Coach Dugan of Hewlett's baseball team enjoyed a fine season. With the return of such lettermen as Ron Adams, Don Adams, Pat Flaherty, Bob Whitney, Mark Acocella, Lou DeMott and Jim Hochman, and the addition of Marc Ruben, a newcomer with fine potential, Hewlett had no problem gaining a playoff position. With the arrival of several Junior Varsity and Freshman boys, Hewlett finally acquired the depth necessary for a championship team. All in all, the season was a good one with the Hewlett nine upholding the Blue and White's winning tradition.

GIRLS' SPORTS

There are many people, even in our "emancipated" society, who still believe that athletics and physical education programs are far more important for men than for women, and that girls ought to confine themselves to "sitting pretty" behind a typewriter or the kitchen counter. Fortunately, this narrow misconception is rapidly disappearing from contemporary thought, and the record of achievement and enthusiasm for sports demonstrated by the girls at Hewlett High serves as a testimony to this new spirit. Modern athletics serve a manifold purpose — the preservation of health, a means of self-expression, and an opportunity to work closely and informally with our fellow students.

More girls than ever before have participated in the Hewlett athletic program this year. They took part in a wide range of activities — from self-expression through gymnastics and aquatic art, to flawless team-work and split-second reaction timing in basketball and tennis. There were both winning and losing days for our competing honor teams, but our girls never lost pride in their teams or their ability. Although there are many fine female athletes at Hewlett High, most of the participants in extra-curricular sports rely not so much on their athletic prowess but more on clever team-work, enthusiasm, hard practice, and school spirit. It is to these girls, who have contributed so much to the well-rounded quality typical of Hewlett, that the Girls' Sports section of PATCHES is dedicated.

The Varsity Cheerleading Squad exhibits a perfect "H" formation.

Vitality and beauty are the trademarks of our peppy cheerleaders. In their never ending battle against apathy and indifferent Hewlett squads, these lovely ladies have shown almost inhuman lungpower. Obviously, Hewlett could not resist their appeal.

Cheerleaders and Twirlers add sparkle to every sporting event.

Hockey incorporates the elements of endurance and precision.

The fall season for girls' sports began with hockey. Both Varsity and Junior Varsity teams enjoyed an excellent season, placing second in Division II of the Long Island Girls' Athletic Association, behind Valley Stream Central. The highlight of the season was the tension-filled game against arch rival Lawrence, from which the girls emerged with a 2-0 victory. Junior Liz Adams was the high scorer for the 1966 Hockey season, having made nine goals. Sue Coons ranked second with three tallies and Joan Kirschner third with a solo marker.

The highest honor in the girls' athletic association, awarded to those girls who have earned 475 points and who have participated in a great variety of activities, is the Gold Key. This coveted award symbolizes the culmination of three years of hard work and interest in the various sports offered to girls outside of the required physical education classes.

Awards are based upon the point system, a certain number of points earned by attendance at sports offered during the school year, by serving on class honor teams, and by being on the winning teams in class competitions. The first award is a shield and it is presented to those girls with a total of 125 points. The next award, requiring 300 points, is a letter. At the end of the senior year, those girls who have amassed a minimum of 475 points are presented with the Gold Key during the award assembly in June.

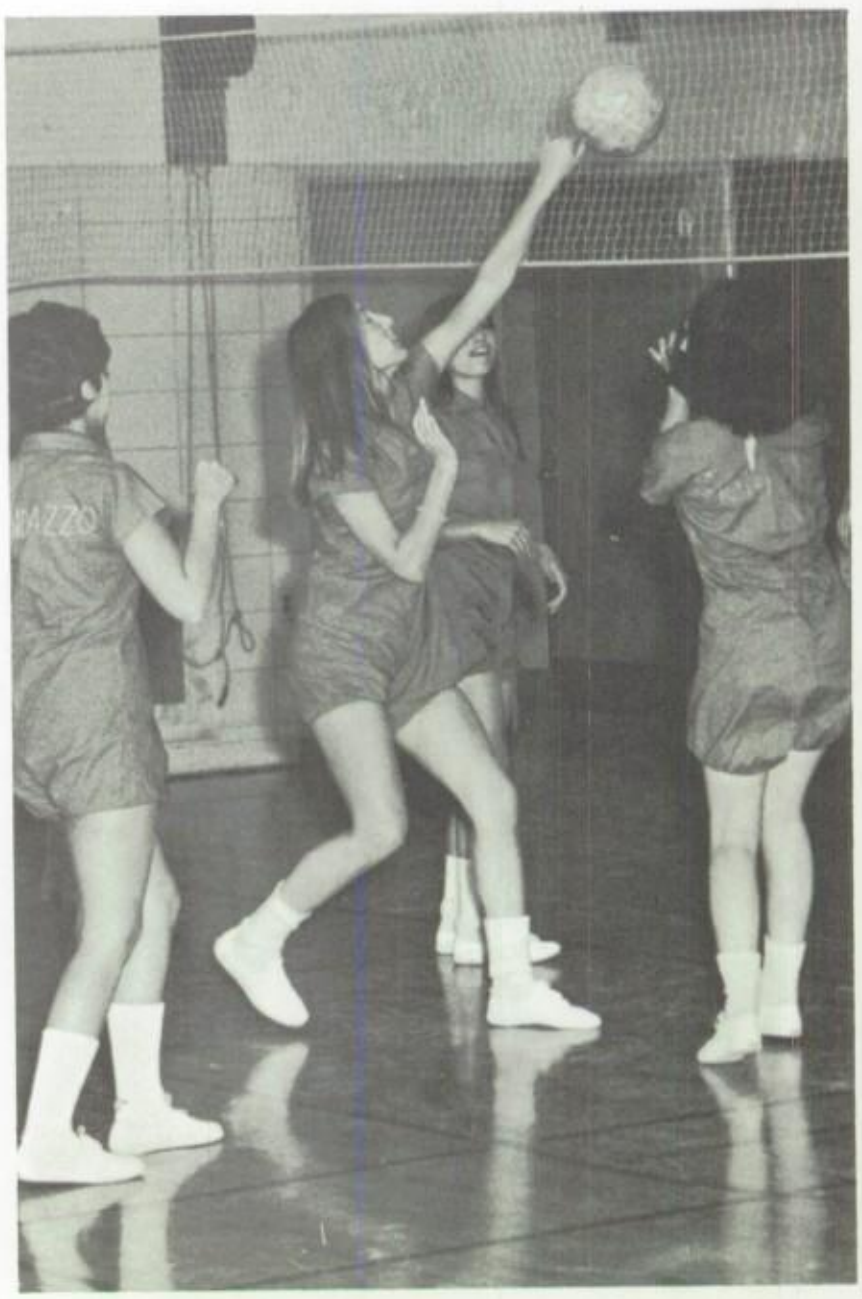
Female athletes pondered the idiosyncracies of the shuttlecock's flight.

Under the leadership of Mrs. Saunders, the girls' badminton team practiced diligently in order to improve the skills and tactics necessary for high achievement. Mrs. Saunders noted marked improvement as the season progressed and was very pleased at the third place position which the girls won on October 26 at Sportsday. This competition, the highlight of the season, was held at Malverne; the girls competed against six other schools. Mrs. Saunders added that, despite the loss of seniors Linda Krummel, Wendy Lerner, and Arlene Kurtz, the prospects for higher placing next year are very good.

Spiking meant victory for the Volleyball Squad.

Our Volleyball Team has been keeping things pretty much up in the air. With stamina and fierce determination, these dedicated athletes have brought this popular indoor sport to new heights of perfection. Led by seniors Liz Schatz, Nancy Grossman, and Wendy Lerner, the team has its most outstanding record.



A member of the front line thumps the ball.

The Basketball Team evokes enthusiasm comparable to Bluejackets.

The girls' basketball team performed skillfully and displayed great enthusiasm for the game although the scores indicate otherwise. The highpoint of the season was the game against arch rival Lawrence, which the girls won by one point. With less than one minute left, Lynn Saslawsky made a foul shot which gave Hewlett a one point lead. In the remaining one-half minute, Hewlett froze the ball until the final buzzer rang. The girls placed fourth out of five teams in a Sports Day held at Woodmere Academy. Junior Liz Adams was high scorer for the season.

Girls bring beauty, poise, and speed to the swimming program.

The 1966 swimming season was filled with victories, defeats, hard work, and perseverance. Coach Scheid is extremely proud of sophomore Leslie Gruber who received the gold medal at the playoff meet against ten schools held at Long Beach. In every meet, Leslie placed first in the fifty yard front crawl. Miss Scheid also had high praise for the relay team consisting of Cathy Saslawsky, Marie Dalton, Leslie Gruber, and Cathy Dalton. Despite these singular accomplishments, however, the team won only two of its meets, one against Plainview and the other against Brentwood.

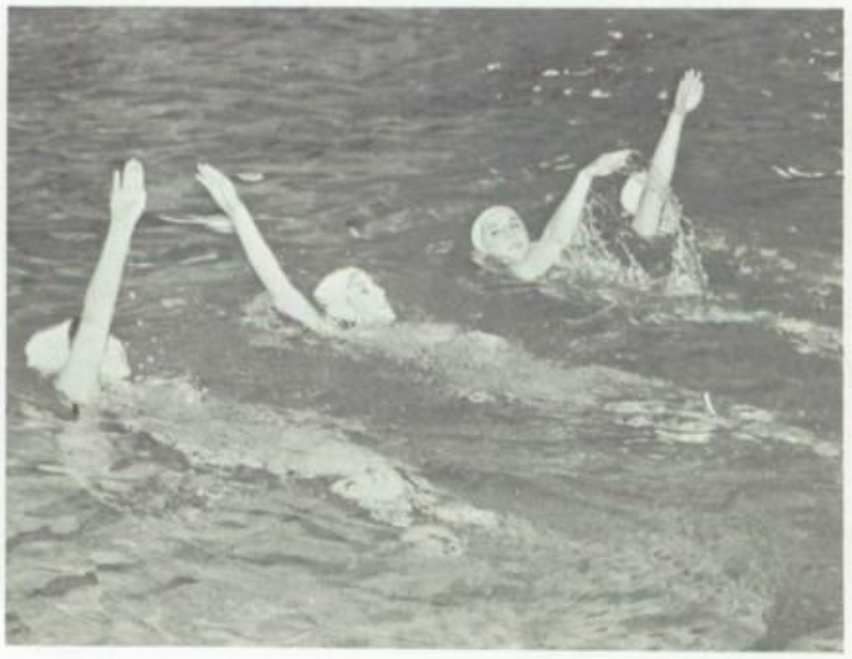
The Synchronized Swimming Team.

One of the most demanding girls' sports is Synchronized Swimming. The members of this club strive to attain almost balletic perfection in the water through difficult maneuvers requiring precise timing. Each year, hours of grueling practice result in highly successful presentation before and appreciative audience.



Leaders provide essential aid to the Physical Education Department.

The newly organized Leaders Club was formed for the purpose of developing leadership and organizational ability in students. It is a type of "honor society" for those girls who are sincerely interested in physical education. Every spring, selection of members is held from among all applicants who have maintained an academic average of 80% and an average of 85% in their gym classes.

The job of the leaders is manifold. They assist the gym teacher during classes by leading exercises, by demonstrating skills and by refereeing games. Earlier in the year, the girls were ushers at Back-to-School Nite. The leaders also performed a marching routine in the gym show.

The club meets every other Wednesday. Meetings are conducted by President Nancy Grossman, Vice-President Sue Coons, and Secretary Lynn Taub.

Archery develops grace and form.

Mrs. Saunders anticipates a fine season for Hewlett's female archers. Linda DeVuono, perhaps the strongest member of last year's team, will be ably assisted by Joan Gaines, Barbara Godofsky, Linda Kirschner, and Sue Michaels.

A trio of archers string their bows..

Softball highlights the spring athletic season.

The Spring Sports Season meant baseball for boys and softball for girls. Although our ball players received less acclaim and school-wide support than our male counterparts, the girls practiced earnestly for their games with Woodmere Academy, Lawrence, Lynbrook, Long Beach, and East Rockaway. At the end of the year there was a sports day at Malverne.

Although the bulwark of the team graduated last year, Arlene Kurtz, Sue Michaels, and Nancy Grossman returned along with a strong group of underclassmen, for what Coach Burton said was an excellent season.

Batting practice is an essential part of softball training.

The Tennis Team chose their adversaries carefully.

Every Spring, as the warm weather arrives bringing balmy breezes and rising temperatures, the tennis courts of Hewlett are filled with girls eager to master the intricacies of tennis.

Tennis is a popular sport at Hewlett. Every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday afternoons large numbers of girls practice serving, backhand, and net play. While many just play for the sheer enjoyment of the sport, some cherish the hope of being chosen for the tennis team.

Playing matches against Baldwin, Malverne, and East Rockaway, this year's team received fine support from Liz Schatz, Beverly Rubin, and Judy Scharf.

The Balance Beam was added to the gymnastic program.

The Apparatus Club performed for the Gym Show.

One of the most physically demanding sports is gymnastics. Although the girls' events stress form rather than strength, great stamina is necessary if one is to perform gracefully. Among the pieces of apparatus on which Hewlett's female gymnasts compete are the horse, buck, rings, rope, Swedish box, and balance beam.

Hewlett's students had the pleasure of viewing a gymnastics exhibition during the Gym Show in which the girls skillfully performed various mounts, handstands, shoulder stands, and vaults.

FOOD STORES

INDEX AND ADVERTISING

Hewlett students comprise a large percentage of the customers in the Five Towns area. In some way, almost every restaurant, store, theatre, gas station and shop is affected by high school patrons. At lunch hours, restaurants are teeming with students from Hewlett High. After school and on weekends, the men's and women's shops are filled with prospective young clothes buyers. Many such shops are exclusively for young people, catering to the changing whims of our teenagers. Sales and discounts are widespread in the local shopping centers, as the proprietors attempt to attract bargain hunting teens. Whether the item on sale is a movie ticket, a camera, a gallon of gas, a sun reflector, or a miniskirt, the chances are good that a Hewlett student is the buyer.

The store owners are very appreciative of our patronage. They are constantly beckoning us through advertisements in the school newspaper, as well as here in the yearbook. You will recognize many of the names contained in the ads of the following pages. Some are parents and relatives of our students. Others are leading community figures. No matter who they are, their ad represents a thank-you note to the students of Hewlett High who have patronized their places of business. We too would like to thank them for the facilities which they have made available to us and for their effort to be helpful to us.

Many of our most precious memories are intertwined with establishments advertised on the ensuing pages.

WORLD HISTORY	106

As editors, we cannot help but feel a sense of jubilation at graduation. There is the satisfaction that comes from having passed a milestone in life and a feeling that we are about to "break out" of adolescence into the adult world. However, these emotions are not unmixed with sadness and nostalgia. Many close friends and respected teachers will soon pass from our lives only to be replaced by a myriad of new people and experiences.

But the immediate reactions to our departure seem trivial when compared to a more significant and lasting effect. High school symbolizes only one of the many hurdles that each of us will encounter as young adults. Hewlett, in fact, has been a continuous series of academic, social and physical obstacles which have challenged and thwarted us ever since our first day as Sophomores. As each successive barrier is surmounted, timidity gives way to courage and confidence. The end result is a sense of accomplishment which can never be erased.

To us Patches represents yet another barrier which has been scaled. As editors we greet its publication in the same manner as we view graduation — with elation, sorrow, but above all with an appreciation of human effort and an acquisition of deeper personal values. We realize that Patches, like Hewlett, has served as preparation for vaulting the next hurdle and each one thereafter.
